

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING AN APPEAL BEFORE THE WEST VIRGINIA OFFICE OF TAX APPEALS

GENERAL INFORMATION<sup>1</sup>

The West Virginia Office of Tax Appeals (OTA) is a quasi-judicial statutorily created agency, where Taxpayers can appeal certain decisions made by the Tax Commissioner. The Office of Tax Appeals is not part of the Tax Department. If you are planning on filing an appeal with the OTA (making you a Petitioner), this fact is important because many Petitioners send us tax related documents and business records with notes asking for assistance. Because we are not the Tax Department, we have no access to your tax information or account. At the time you file a Petition, the OTA has no need to see personal or business records or other tax documents apart from those identified below.

The other critical information for people filing a Petition is the deadline by which an appeal must be filed. Under West Virginia law, (§11-10A9(b)) an appeal to the OTA is timely if it is filed, within sixty (60) days of your receipt of the document from the Tax Department that you are appealing<sup>2</sup>, unless where a different time for filing a petition is specified. Petitioners may want to consult with an attorney or accountant to ensure that they do not miss a statutory filing deadline. "Filed" means postmarked or received at our office. This sixty (60) day deadline cannot, except in extremely rare circumstances, be extended by the OTA.

Only certain actions taken by the Tax Commissioner are appealable. Most of the time, but not always, people will come to the OTA after receiving a notice of assessment (final tax bill, not to be confused with a statement of account) or a denial of a refund or a denial of a request for a tax credit. However, there are other actions taken by the Tax Commissioner that are also appealable. Because of the sixty (60) day deadline discussed above, if you are unsure if the Tax Commissioner has taken an appealable action, you should err on the side of caution and file an appeal. The question of the OTA's jurisdiction to hear the case can be dealt with at a later date.

<sup>1</sup> The information provided is not exhaustive and is intended only to provide general guidance and assistance in completing and filing a Petition to the Office of Tax Appeals. The information contained herein does not constitute legal advice. You may wish to first consult an attorney or other legal counsel before acting.

<sup>2</sup> This may include, but is not limited to, "Notices of Assessment," denials of tax refunds or credits, other "decisions" of the Tax Commissioner, or upon another basis such as those found in W. Va. Code §11-10-14.28). It is critical that the Petitioner attach a copy of the document (or multiple documents) from the Tax Department that led to the filing of the appeal.

Much of the work on the cases before us is done by telephone. We conduct regular telephonic status conferences in each case until the parties reach an impasse on settlement and inform us that a hearing is needed. Due to the fact that much of the work is done by phone, it is imperative that we are able to reach you or your representative by phone at the time of scheduled telephonic status conferences.

REPRESENTATION AND CONFIDENTIALITY

If a Petitioner at the OTA is an individual, they can represent themselves or they may choose to be represented by an attorney. Other entities such as corporations, LLCs or partnerships must be represented by an attorney if the matter proceeds past settlement negotiations. West Virginia law also allows any Petitioner, whether an individual or a business, to be "represented" by anyone<sup>3</sup> (like a friend, accountant, or employee of a business), as long as that representative does not illegally practice law. The OTA has always interpreted this statute to allow accountants and other non-attorneys to assist Petitioners by discussing resolution with the Tax Department, to see if the matter can be resolved without the need for a hearing. If the matter cannot be resolved, then these "representatives" must step aside. This does not prevent the representatives from testifying on behalf of the Petitioner.

All of your information, including your name, address, and the fact that you have an appeal at the OTA is confidential. This means that if you choose a representative to assist you, or hire an attorney, we cannot discuss your case with them until you give us permission to do so. Therefore, lines 22-23 present you, the Petitioner with two choices.

By signing line 22 the Petitioner is giving the OTA (and the Tax Department) permission to speak about the case with your designated representative.

By signing line 23, you give us permission to speak to any accountant/attorney at whatever firm you choose to represent you.

LINE BY LINE INSTRUCTIONS

- 1) The Petitioner is not whoever is filling out the Petition. The Petitioner is the person or entity that the Tax Commissioner has taken action against. For example, if the Tax Commissioner has issued an assessment against Sue and John Smith, the Petitioner is both people, even if Sue Smith is the one filling out the Petition. By the same token, if for some reason the Tax Commissioner issues an assessment against just Sue Smith, even though she is married to John, the Petitioner would be Sue Smith, even if John is the one filling out the Petition for her.

9-21) This portion of the appeal form is confusing for some Petitioners. Simply put, if the Petitioner is anything other than an individual or married couple, like for example ABC Corporation, then obviously some person has to fill out the forms on the business' behalf, because ABC Corp does not have hands. Also, as stated above, much of the work on appeals is done by status conferences conducted over the phone. With that in mind, here are some examples of how lines 9-15 and 16-21 can be filled out:

1) ABC corp is the Petitioner and Joe Smith, their tax manager is filling out the Petition, and he will represent the corporation during telephonic status conferences. In that case, Joe identifies himself as the representative on line 9 and puts his info down in lines 10-15 and answers yes on line 16.

2) ABC corp is the Petitioner and Joe Smith, their tax manager is filling out the Petition, but accountant Sue Jones will represent the corporation during telephonic status conferences. In that case, Joe puts his information in lines 9-15 and Sue's information is in lines 16-21.

3) ABC corp is the Petitioner and accountant Sue Jones, is filling out the Petition, and will represent the corporation during telephonic status conferences. In that case, Sue puts her information in lines 9-15 and answers yes on line 16.

22-23) As stated above, all information about an appeal at the OTA is confidential, unless a case proceeds past the OTA to Circuit Court. However, because the OTA is not the Tax Department, the only "information" it has is the name and address of the Petitioner, and a copy of the document (like a tax bill) that led to the appeal. Therefore, when a Petitioner checks any of the boxes in lines 22-23 all they are doing is letting the OTA and the Tax Department speak with their lawyer/representative about the case.

- 24) Under West Virginia law, a Petitioner may request that their appeal at the OTA be handled as a small claim matter. An appeal can only be handled as a small claim if: 1) the Tax Commissioner agrees and 2) the amount in dispute does not exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for any one taxable year. Small claims cases are handled more informally than regular appeals and the final decision from the OTA is not appealable by either party to Circuit Court.

- 25) Under West Virginia law the OTA can conduct hearings at locations other than its Charleston office. The decision to conduct a hearing outside of Charleston is entirely within the discretion of the OTA. Traditionally, the OTA travels to locations around the state in the warm weather months, when there are enough cases to justify the cost of the travel. The practical effect of this is that if a Petitioner files an appeal in the spring or summer it is usually difficult to have that case ready for a hearing outside of Charleston that summer. Petitioners in that situation have to either wait almost a year to have their hearing or travel to Charleston for their hearing.

- 26) It is critical that the Petitioner attach a copy of the document (or multiple documents) from the Tax Department that led to the filing of the appeal. PLEASE NOTE THAT YOU ONLY NEED TO FILL OUT ONE APPEAL FORM, EVEN IF YOU HAVE MULTIPLE DOCUMENTS FROM THE TAX DEPARTMENT THAT YOU WISH TO APPEAL. These documents are needed not only to inform us as to what your appeal is about generally, but also to confirm that the appeal has been timely filed. Additionally, as stated above, there are certain actions taken by the Tax Commissioner that are not appealable. Failure to include these documents at the time of filing can delay the resolution of your case. Finally, it should be noted that the document or documents that form the nature of your appeal are the only documents required to be included with your appeal. Because the OTA is not the Tax Department it is not necessary to send us tax filings or other papers that would normally be filed with the Tax Department.
